Russia's largest social network, vk.com, has been the victim of a data breach which has leaked 100 million clear-text passwords from the community's user-base of over 280 million accounts.

The breach was reported by LeakedSource, which has added the 100,544,934 records to its database of 1.8 billion purloined records, and has provided a searchable interface for the data, with the option to request removal free of charge.
